KAPEL SHOWS COMING

The Kapel All-Canadian Shows come almost directly to Blairmore from a most successful season of fair dates. Mr. Kapel was fortunate in securing the contract to play the Western Canada B-2 Fair. Wherever the shows played they met with immediate approval.

This year the Kapel All-Canadian Shows offer an outstanding variety of entertainment among its many attractions. The giant Parker merry-go-round, together with the Ell big ferris wheel, both serve to give young and old thrills a-plenty, while the athletic stadium offers the highest class of boxing and wrestling. This stadium is in charge of Frank Hall, noted international wrestler, who challenges all-comers to the extent of forfeiting one dollar per minute to anyone staying the stipulated time. Marquita, the girl of mystery, is proving a sensation wherever shown. The burning question is: "How does she live?" See and hear Marquita, the girl of mystery.

And then there is the all-star vaudeville show, featuring Lou Ricardo, the world-famous magician and hypnotist. Mr. Ricardo offers the highest type of vaudeville entertainment seen in the country in many a year. He comes direct from a successful season with the Bain Bros. attractions. Don't miss these wonderful presentations.

In addition, the Kapel shows offer the latest concessions, many new and interesting games of skill and science. The shows are again under the personal direction of Mr. Frank Kapel, well known western Canadian showman.

CASTLE RIVER CLUB PICNIC AND SPORTS SUCCESS

There were big dolings in the Beaver Mines-Mountain Mill district on Wednesday of last week. A picnic and sports, ending with a dance at night, was carried out by the Castle River Club, of which Frank Holmes is president and Wilbur Lang secretary.

The municipal sports field at the South Fork bridge, on the Beaver Mines-Burns road, with its recently graded half-mile track, provided a perfect venue for the open-air activities, admirable alike for its natural attractions and for its accessibility to the prairie and Pass populations. This spot seems to be specially designed for the foregrounding of the farming and mining communities. The field is enclosed on one side by a beautiful stretch of river, with wide sandy beach, fringed by a strip of delightful woodland. On the other side the track is bounded by a bench, which makes an excellent natural grandstand.

There were horie races, bucking contests, horse jumping, foot races for young and old, tug-of-war, softball game and horse-shoe pitching.

Those redoubtable oldtime broncho busters and cow punchers, Joe Johnston and Jim Miller, with Carl Smith, were in charge of the bucking contests, and they pranced about with such keen and lively interest, it was evident they were living over again the days of forty or fifty years ago. There was some very fine riding displayed in the contests, quite worthy of the big rodeos, and most of the horses put up good shows. First money was won by Dave Link, the second by Harry Eddy; the best horse by Ray Lang.

The principal horse race, the half-mile, was won by Harry Eddy; the second by Wilbur Lang.

Great interest was taken in the horse jumping, for which Bert Link and Harry Eddy divided first and second money.

"Wal." Eddy was starter and H. Bossenberry, M.L.A., was judge, and, needless to say, they managed the business perfectly.

The 100-yard foot race brought out a big field, and a very fast race resulted in J. Popowitch and George Lowery coming in first and second. Winners of the junior races were Dave Eddy, Wilfred Lynch, Billy Link, Bobby Erickson, Norma Chies, Carol Conron, Marjorie Shaw, Mary Chies.

Horse-shoe pitching was won by Bill Lynch, the second prize going to Wash Mitchell. The married men won out against the singles in the tug-of-war.

Free coffee was provided and other refreshments were sold at the booth. Mr. Williams, of Pincher Creek, with his aeroplane "game," enabled people to win big hats and ticklers for ten cents, so everybody went home happy at 6.30, did their chores and gathered again at 8.20 in the Community Hall at Beaver Mines, where dancing was kept going fast and furious by the Altmatt orchestra until 2.30 a.m., this ending a day of real community spirit and activities.

Sir James Jeans states that the sun has passed through one third of its life, and that its death may be expected 150,000 million years hence.

J. J. Gibbons, head of the Gibbons Advertising Agency of Toronto, was a member of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association party which visited the Pacific Coast during the month. Mr. Gibbons expressed satisfaction at the budget while on the coast and stated that he had a great deal of admiration for Premier Bennett's business ability which he considered had resulted in a well studied scheme to help Canadians to take advantage of a vast home market of some $800,000,000 which can be supplied by Canadian industry.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Cures For Depression

Among the thousand and one articles, speeches and interviews to which the people have been subjected on the all-pervading subject of the existing economic and financial depression, there has at last appeared one courageous individual who preaches the rather unpopular doctrine that continued depression might be a good thing for the country.

The man advancing this opinion is George Richardson, newly-elected president of the National (United States) Association of Purchasing Agents, which organization, it is stated, represents the material buying power of the big republic to the south. Mr. Richardson takes a sharp rap at the professional optimist and the nostrum specialist in a special message to the members of his organization in the course of which he says:

"We are now in the second year of a corrective period, which in the judgment of many of us is a wholesome and much needed reminder that there are basic economic, as well as moral, laws which do not change with the seasons, and are not affected by mob psychology; and, when flagrant disregard for these laws attains the proportions witnessed prior to the close of 1928, the measure of retribution which is meted out to us is in proportion to the extent of their breach." Then follows his declaration that "it might be very beneficial in establishing a sound foundation for permanent recovery to have this period of fast and abstinence continue for awhile. There is no substitute for intelligence, hard work and close application to business."

Mr. Richardson, who thinks constantly in terms of buying rather than selling, finds that "business men need to have it borne in on them that they cannot get and hold something for nothing," and that "a return to hard work and a less extravagant living" are the only possible antidotes to "existing unsound tendencies which are manifest on every hand."

Contrasted with this statement of hard work and less extravagant living, which latter means less spending, is the view expressed by a writer in a well known Canadian financial paper. He says: "It has been stated that the solution of the present depression is hard work, economy and thrift. This has a nice sound but, unfortunately, the people who advance it do not clearly appreciate what the true effect of their recommendation would be. Hard work means producing and putting on sale a large quantity of commodities as we did in 1928. Economy and thrift mean spending as little as we can of our annual income and saving the rest. Doubtless by strict economy we could live on three billion dollars and save one billion of the four billion production in 1928. But if a four billion dollar production is put on sale and we offer only three billions for it, prices must be lowered and the producers accept a loss of one billion dollars. Then as only three billions were received, the producers will be forced to reduce wages and the opportunities for employment it can offer in the future by one billion dollars. Thus economy and thrift create the conditions that precipitate a depression."

Now, in our humble opinion, there is something to be said for both these points of view. Hard work we consider essential in this world. Extravagance should be curbed, and by extravagance we mean expenditures on non-essentials, or even on essentials beyond the ability of the buyer to pay for, and consequent running into debt. Thrift, not miserly hoarding, is wise and necessary, but it should not be carried to the extreme of denying one-self necessities, reasonable pleasures, and on what may be termed luxuries. Protection against old age, possible sickness, and an ultimate loss of earning capacity; in a word, assurance of a future competence is all that is required.

The trouble is, and prior to the close of 1929 it became widespread, that thousands of people do aim to get and hold something for nothing. It simply cannot be done. We must pay for what we get. Speculation ran riot; hundreds of thousands of people bought on the installment plan beyond the ability to pay. The inevitable crash followed, and the depression was upon us.

There is a happy medium between the extremes of spending one hundred cents of every dollar earned, even going into debt beyond one's ability to pay, and miserly living in fear of the future and hoarding every possible dollar. That happy medium is to be found in (1) living within one's income; (2) small but regular savings, and these not merely hoarded but wisely invested in order that they may be available to expand industry, create employment, in a word, perform their proper function in the world; (3) expand one's expenditures in keeping with increase of income. In other words, every one's dollars should be kept busy.

To illustrate: Industry (and we include agriculture) produces. It pays for raw materials, wages, transportation, distribution, etc. The wage-earners, in turn, buy the goods and foodstuffs thus produced. Thus the money paid out in wages returns to industry, to again be paid out in wages, to again return to industry. The more frequently a dollar is thus turned over, the greater the production, the larger the total of wages paid, the greater the business turnover of the nation; hence the greater the prosperity, and the absence of a depression.

This, we believe, is sound economics and good finance. It is, however, necessary to add that while the above observations apply to industry generally, including agriculture, there are seasonal conditions, such as the present widespread crop failure, which cannot be overcome even by the hardest of hard work, the strictest economy and thrift. These exceptional conditions must be met by exceptional remedies. They are, however, exceptions which do not nullify the truth and strength of the general policy to which expression has been given.

How To Read A Book

Lord Macaulay said: "When a boy, I began to read very earnestly, but at the foot of every page I read I stopped and obliged myself to give an account of what I had read on that page. At first I had to read it three or four times before I got my mind firmly fixed. But I compelled myself to comply with the plan, until now, after I have read a book through once, I can almost recite it from the beginning to the end."

Awards For the Blind

Gold, Bronze and Silver Medals and Cash Awards For Slightness. Achievements of the blind in Canada and the United States were recognized by the Harmon Foundation in the granting of 100 awards to sightless men, women and children.

Gold, bronze and silver medals, and cash awards of $2,500, were given to individuals who had disregarded the handicaps of blindness in their efforts toward accomplishment.

Canadian recipients are: Dr. A. T. Barnard, Edmonton, $50 and bronze medal for achievement of economic value; Joseph Clunk, Toronto, $50 and gold medal for accomplishment or progress in first two years in blindness.

Edgar J. Miller, Swift Current, Sask., $20 and bronze medal for participation in home activities; Adolph Renault, Montgomery, P.Q., $10 for achievement of economic value; C. Robinson, Victoria, B.C., $10 for achievement of economic value, $20 and bronze medal for accomplishment of progress in first two years of blindness, and $20 for participation in home activities.

For improvement of children in schools for the blind, the following schools were represented, each pupil receiving $5 and a bronze medal: Ontario School for the Blind, Brantford, Ontario; School for the Blind, Point Grey, B.C.

Cruise Was Successful

Dr. Eckener Satisfied With Zeppelin Trip To Arctic

Home from the top of the world after a week's cruise, the Graf Zeppelin landed at Friedrichshafen, Germany, amid lusty cheers of thousands who flocked to the airfield instead of going to work.

"It was a splendid and highly successful cruise," Dr. Eckener said. "Some people may have thought we were out in a dreadful region of ice and extreme cold, but from the very beginning we never doubted for a moment that this would be a relatively easy trip. Often we enjoyed skis of Italian blue and we never were bothered by the discomforts of the Arctic."

"Many people thought we did not accomplish all we set out to do, but perhaps we did not mean to do all that some people said we intended. I hope this cruise will have a two-fold result, namely, that we may soon make another journey to the Arctic when we can get the necessary funds together, and that the Graf Zeppelin will become a favourite with tourists who feel the call of the north."

Long Journey On Skis

Major Scott Crossed 500 Miles Of Arctic Ice

Major James M. Scott, member of the British Arctic expedition to Greenland, arrived at Ivigtut July 20 after having crossed the inland ice on skis from Lemon Rose camp, Angmagssalik Fjord.

The British Expedition to Greenland, which has been in the area, is obtaining data for use in mapping an air route from England to Canada.

Major Scott left Lemon Rose camp July 1 on the journey across the ice to Ivigtut, a distance of almost 500 miles.

An Automobile Chapel

The motorized church made its appearance in New York when a small white chapel, built over the chassis of an automobile, eased into Wall Street, and a clergyman preached from the rear platform on the theme of "Depression." The automobile chapel belongs to the Evangelical Committee of New York, which during the last eight years has used automobiles in its campaign.

Does Away With Guesswork

New Device Is X-ray and Radium Meter

The "X-Ray Yardsstick," a device to make use of X-rays and radium as a standard unit for use in all countries in measuring short-wave radiation.

The importance of this agreement lies in the destructive powers of X-ray and radium, an overdose being as bad as too little, and occasionally even fatal. The difficulty with X-rays has been worse than with radium because the intensity of radiation varies greatly with differences in the numerous varieties of X-ray tubes.

There has been necessarily much guesswork, and also sometimes confusion among radiologists in one nation about applying the progress of their fellow workers in another part of the world.

The work was developed by Dr. Lauriston H. Taylor, of the United States Bureau of Standards.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

GINGER PEARS

- 5 pounds sugar.
- 1 cup preserved ginger cut in small pieces.
- 3 lemons, juice and grated rind.
- 3 cups water.

Remove the skin and cores from the pears and cut the meat in slices. Add the water and cook the pears until they are tender. Add the sugar and the other ingredients and simmer the mixture until it is thick. Pour it into clean, hot jars and seal. The quantities of apples may be preserved in the same manner.

HUCKLEBERRY SURPRISE

- 1 junket tablet.
- 1 tablespoon cold water.
- 1 pint milk.
- 3 tablespoons sugar.
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Fresh huckleberries. Sort and wash fresh huckleberries. Put a heaping tablespoon in the bottom of five dessert glasses. Prepare junket according to directions on the package. Pour at once over the huckleberries. The berries will come at once to the top and make a very tempting dish. Let stand undisturbed in a warm room until firm—about 10 minutes. Then chill.

Time Is Extended

Canadian cattle destined to British markets may be carried on open decks until November 1, Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, has announced. The extension of one month from the usual closing date of October 1 was made possible through representations conveyed to the British authorities by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner.

Miller's Worm Powders, being in demand everywhere, can be got at any chemist's or drug shop, at very small cost. They are a reliable remedy for worm troubles and can be fully relied upon to expel worms from the system and abate the suffering that worms cause. There are many mothers that rejoice that they found available so effective a remedy for the relief of their children.

Wealth In Alkali Lakes

The alkali lakes in the Prairie Provinces are an important source of new mineral wealth. Production in these lakes last year was 37,571 tons, an increase of 500 per cent. over the output in 1928.

Morning pigeons were used by the Roman army to carry messages in wartime at least as far back as 43 B.C.

Air parcel post service has been established between London, England, and Karachi, India.

France To See Indians

Parisian Artist Will Select Group From Canadian Tribe

For the purpose of collecting a group of Canadian Indians to take to France, Paul Cose, Parisian artist and Roy Scott, Commissioner, who last year headed an expedition into the north to study the Redskins in their native haunts, has arrived once more in Canada. Accompanied by Madame Cose and by Pierre H. Godard, a Canadian now living in France, he left Montreal for Deception, Sask.

From there the trio travelled by airplane to the Mission of Ile a la Crosse in Northern Saskatchewan. In addition to selecting 15 Indians who will demonstrate their nomad life for the Parisians next winter under the auspices of the Trocadero Museum of Ethnography, Mr. Cose has another object in coming to Canada this summer.

As a mark of thanks to the Oblates of Ile a la Crosse for their kindness to the French travellers last year, he will present a portable altar to the Mission.

Fooling Jack Frost

Ethylene Gas Hastens Ripening Of Fruit At Morden, Manitoba

The farmer doesn't very often get a chance to fool Jack Frost, especially on a soft crop like tomatoes, but experimental work at Morden, Man., by the Dominion Department of Agriculture shows conclusively that this can be done. With the advance of the season tomatoes ripen more slowly and the use of ethylene gas speeds up the process from late August on. Fruit in danger of frost damage can be picked and quickly ripened by the use of this gas.

Asthma Overcome. The triumph over asthma has assuredly come. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has proved the most positive blessing the victim of asthmatic attacks has ever known. Alberta Aviator Chosen

To Operate Air Mail Service For Government Of Siam

Reginald B. Jackson, 31-year-old Edmonton aviator, is to operate the air-mail services of the government of Siam. Well known among northern fliers, Mr. R. Jackson is enroute to Bangkok, where he will make his headquarters as operating manager of the Siamese service, under a three-year contract.

From the Old Country, Mr. Jackson came to Alberta as a child. After living for some time in Calgary he obtained his license as a commercial pilot, and later added in forming Great Western Airways, Calgary. He was one of the founders of the Calgary Aero Club and was secretary of Commercial Airways, Limited, from last fall until suspension of services this spring.

A man would have no pleasure in discovering all the beauties of the universe, even in heaven itself, unless he had a partner to whom he might communicate his joy.

HER HUSBAND TEASED HER

But not for long!

"I started taking Kruschen Salts for biliousness, and for the last two years I have been perfectly free from an attack. Now I continue to take them, as I find they keep me in perfect health. My husband used to joke about me taking Kruschen Salts; now he takes them himself, so do my children. My sincere thanks."

—Mrs. G. P. P.
When your gastric or digestive juices refuse to flow, your food, instead of becoming absorbed into your system, simply collects and ferments inside you, producing harmful acids and gases which give rise to biliousness, heartburn and flatulence.

Kruschen is a combination of six mineral salts, which goes right to the root of the trouble. It first stimulates the flow of gastric and other juices to aid digestion, and then causes complete, regular and unending elimination of waste matter every day. And, of course, it does not cause constipation, and a renewed and whole-hearted enjoyment of your food without the slightest effort having to pay the old painful penalty.

Why Helium Is Safe

Valuable Because It Will Not Burn Or Explode

The tremendous value of helium gas for dirigibles is emphasized anew by the accident which destroyed the Goodyear-Zeppelin airship "Mayflower" at Kansas City the other day.

Driven by a high wind, the "Mayflower" ran into high tension wires, took fire and burned. The four men aboard were injured, but escaped alive.

The "Mayflower" was filled with helium—and the four undoubtedly owe their lives to that fact. For it is a ship filled with explosive hydrogen had run into high tension wires and caught fire, every man aboard would have been burned to a crisp. Helium, which neither burns nor explodes, kept the ship from becoming a terrible tragedy.

The children of today may be better educated than the children of yesterday; but the children of yesterday had one thing on the children of today; they were taught to say "Thank you!" and said it.

CONSERVATIVES VICTORIOUS IN P.E.I. ELECTIONS

Charlottetown, P.E.I.—Conservative gains of 13 seats in the general election in Prince Edward Island, sent Hon. J. D. Stewart back to the premiership of the province with a majority of eight, after his four years as opposition leader in the general assembly. The standing of the parties will be: Conservatives, 19; Liberals, 11. Returns from several polls are still missing, but they can not possibly affect the result.

The last district in which there existed doubt as to the result of polling was the second of Prince County, in which Ramsay, Conservative, and Liberal, ran a close race for councillor. The Liberal majority in this seat is 19, according to complete returns. Sharp, Conservative, is elected as assemblyman in the second district of Prince, with a majority of 38 over Lindsay, Liberal.

Brilliant summer weather prevailing throughout the day resulted in the recording of a larger vote than usual. Premier Les retained his seat in the fourth district of Prince by the slim margin of 14 votes, and five of his colleagues in the government went down to defeat.

They were: Hon. B. W. Lepage, Peter Sinclair, Russell Clark, Dr. J. F. MacNeill and Horace Wright, all members without portfolio. The only member of the Les administration elected, apart from the premier, was Hon. J. P. McIntyre, Minister of Public Works, who was returned by a majority of 26 votes. Hon. Thane Campbell, former attorney-general, defeated in a by election last year, was successful.

Hon. J. D. Stewart returns to the premiership of Prince Edward Island after an interval of four years. His government went down to defeat in the general election of June, 1927, when he had appealed to the country on a policy of government control of the sale of liquor. Prohibition was not an issue in the recent contest, Mr. Stewart having announced that if returned he would enforce the present prohibition law.

Mr. Stewart returns with four of his former colleagues in the government. Hon. Frank MacPherson, formerly Minister of Public Works, and Hon. A. F. Armstrong, L. C. Justice, and Dr. J. D. MacMillan, formerly all without portfolio. He had appealed to the electorate on alleged extravagance of the Les Government in the matter of highway construction and promised improvement in technical and agricultural education along with his best efforts towards the full implementation of the Duncan report.

Aid For Western Churches

Support Pledged By United Church Of Canada
Toronto, Ont.—Financial support necessary to maintain 1,000 churches in Saskatchewan has been pledged by the United Church of Canada. In meetings which concluded here, gifts of clothing for needy people in the west were also promised.

The pledges followed a tour through the drought-stricken area of southern Saskatchewan by E. H. Oliver, of Saskatoon, moderator. Arrangements have been made for a conference between Dr. R. B. Cochrane, secretary of the Home Mission Board, and leaders of the Women's Missionary Society, in order to lay relief plans.

A resolution passed by the sub-executive of the Home Mission Board declared that the board "up to the limit of its financial ability will endeavour to keep open all the churches in this area by making such grants as will enable them to carry on without hardship."

Epidemic Under Control

Spread Of Anthrax In Eastern Manitoba Believed To Be Checked

Winnipeg, Man.—Dr. Alfred Savage, Chief Animal Pathologist for Manitoba, announced that the anthrax epidemic among horses in eastern Manitoba was under control and was confident the disease would not spread. Sixteen horses used in highway construction between Renelle, Man., and Ingolf, Ont., died during the brief epidemic which was checked when serum was rushed to the area.

Both Dominion and Provincial Government veterinarians and sanitary and contagious disease officials were camped in the Renelle district, though danger of the epidemic spreading was believed to be averted. The district was still closed to the public.

Message Of Hope

Hon. Frank Oliver Appeals For Highest Optimism Of Western People

Edmonton, Alberta.—A message of hope and faith in Canada's great northwest was left with the Edmonton Canadian Club by Hon. Frank Oliver, one of the pioneers of the west.

A subject close to his heart and with which, perhaps, none is better able to deal, Hon. Mr. Oliver dealt broadly with it and appealed for the highest optimism of western people throughout the trying readjustment now taking place.

"With our vast areas; with our soil conditions that excel; with a climate that stimulates or indeed compels in large measure both mental and physical activity; with ocean ports open the year round; with the ideals of industry and thrift, of courage and endurance, of foresight, and enterprise firmly planted, may we not fairly look forward to this great north-west being in due course and in very truth the very heart of Canada?" asked Hon. Mr. Oliver in closing an address punctuated with warm applause.

Immigration Falls Off

Greatest Decrease Shown In Arrivals From Other Than Britain and U.S. Ports

Ottawa, Ont.—Immigration to Canada during June showed a decrease of 78 per cent, compared with June a year ago, the figures being 3,169 and 13,771, respectively. According to a statement issued by Hon. Wesley A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, the total immigration to Canada in the three months, April 1 to June 30, 1931, has been 10,188, compared with 49,990 in the same three months a year ago.

The greatest decrease is shown in immigration other than that from the British Isles and the United States. The present small movement from continental Europe consists almost wholly of wives and minor children of Europeans already permanently settled in Canada.

Total immigration for the first three months of the present fiscal year, compared with the corresponding period a year ago consisted of British 3,816 compared with 16,587; United States, 4,807, compared with 9,510; other countries, 1,565, compared with 23,794.

Will Visit West

Experts Will Study Needs Of Prairie Provinces For Farm Relief

Ottawa, Ont.—Studying the needs of the prairie provinces for farm relief, particularly Saskatchewan, a party of department officials, headed by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, will leave for the west at once.

Mr. Weir will be accompanied by Prof. L. E. Kirk, newly appointed from Saskatchewan University to be Dominion Agrostologist; Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of the Dominion Experimental Farms, and J. G. Taggart, superintendent of the Experimental Farm at Swift Current.

No public meetings will be held during the visit of the department officials in the west. Instead they will visit the leading farmers in the dried out areas and discuss ways and means of aiding those in need of assistance.

It is thought that those men who, in more prosperous years, led the different communities in successful farming will be the most likely to give sound advice as to the most effective aid the governments can give.

Lad Shoots Officer

Ten-Year-Old Boy, Caught In Robbery, Shoots Sheriff

Laocin, Wash.—Sheriff John Wormell, 72, was shot and killed by a 10-year-old boy, who said he had been promised $2 and a trip to Canada for the robbery.

The boy, Hubert Nichols, Jr., was found robbing the Klau Mercantile store, and was cornered by the sheriff, Deputy Wayne Resona and Peter Klau, owner of the store.

When the sheriff was clearing the store, the deputy said, the boy hid behind a vinegar barrel, fired at him from a distance of five feet. The bullet pierced the officer's brain.

Young Nichols threw away his pistol and surrendered without resistance.

Treaty Now In Force

Ottawa, Ont.—The new Canada-Australia trade agreement has been proclaimed in both countries. Announcement to this effect was made recently by Premier R. B. Bennett. The signing of proclamations in Canada and Australia brings the new tariff arrangements between the two countries into immediate operation.

Indians Treated For Infantile Paralysis

Outbreak Of Disease At Fort George Has Been Checked

North Bay, Ont.—The outbreak of infantile paralysis among Indians at Fort George is well under control, according to word brought back from the settlement by Pilot Byrnes of the Royal Canadian air force. Byrnes landed his plane on Trout Lake near here after flying to the Indian Colony with a quantity of infantile paralysis serum.

Fort George is about 150 miles north of Moose Factory on the east shore of James Bay. The serum was rushed from Ottawa, by aeroplane when word of the outbreak was received by the department of Indian Affairs. Byrnes flew to Moose Factory, picked up a physician, and then continued to Fort George.

The serum was administered immediately and it was expected by the doctor that danger of the malady spreading had been removed. Pilot Byrnes flew back to Ottawa.

CHINESE FLOODS TAKE HEAVY TOLL OF LIFE

Hankow, China.—Floods have rolled over 16 provinces of China and uncounted thousands were reported drowned. Hundreds of thousands were homeless, threatened by famine and disease.

All central China sent stories of distress and appeals for aid. Fifty million people, the Government's relief committee estimated, were afflicted, or soon would be, by the catastrophe.

China's great rivers, the Yangtze and the Yellow, fed by swollen tributaries after torrential rains, overflowed their banks and inundated wide expanses of country.

Many cities were flood-swept. Unable to bury their dead in submerged cemeteries, the Chinese allowed bodies to float downstream.

No tally of victims was possible but the Chinese press reported "several thousands" drowned in the sister cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Han-yang and their environs. Those cities, with total population of 1,800,000, including 1,200 white foreigners, were partly under water and fighting to keep the Yangtze and Han Rivers, which were pouring through broken dykes.

Nearly all of Hankow was flooded, but 200,000 refugees fled to higher places. Thirty thousand more were warning daily to railway embankments and highways to join them. With pestilential conditions in refugee camps, it was feared disease would strike heavily.

Scores of Hankow homes were taken across the two-mile-wide Yangtze to Wuchang in small boats, hoping for shelter and safety in the hills. Never in modern times had the Yangtze reached such heights. Shipping was unable to proceed up-stream, and cargoes could not be landed at docks.

ROYAL VISITORS

Paying an extended visit to western Canada upon their return journey to their homeland, their Majesties King Prajapitok and Queen Rambai of Siam are travelling by special Canadian Pacific train to Vancouver, where, after a short Vancouver Island cruise, they will sail on the "Empress of Canada," September 12th. In the pictures above are shown their Majesties and, below, the Banff Springs Hotel where they will reside for two weeks, during which time his Majesty will officially open the Banff Scottish Gathering.

Preparing Relief Plans

Government Will Be Making Definite Announcement Shortly

Ottawa, Ont.—Highway construction will be concentrated upon throughout Canada as a means of taking care of single unemployed men. This intention was given by Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labour in discussing the program of the government respecting unemployed relief. Preliminary conferences have already taken place with several of the provincial governments, Senator Robertson said, and within the next week or so a definite announcement may be expected as to the working out of the plan.

"The general view of the municipalities," he stated, "appears to be that they will be willing to redouble their efforts to find employment for married men providing the provinces and the Dominion provide work outside the cities for single men, particularly transients. Although the government's final decision has not been made, the probability is that highway construction will be carried on extensively to take care of men without family ties."

Until all the provinces have an opportunity to present their views, the Minister said, details on the plan, such as the amount provided for each province, nature of the construction camps to be set up and rates of wages to be paid, could not be indicated.

Germany Cuts Budget

Finance Minister Expects Economies In All Departments

Berlin, Germany.—Vice-Chancellor Hermann Dietrich, who also is Finance Minister, asserted that every criticism of extravagance in the German Federal Budget made by S. Parker Gilbert while he was Agent-General for reparations payments has been met in the budget for 1931.

"We have cut the budget to the bone," said Dr. Dietrich, "we have gone through every department with the pruning knife, and now we can say that the 1931 budget really is one of drastic economy."

Winnipeg Bank Robbery

Manager Fires Five Shots, But Bandits Escape With Cash

Winnipeg, Man.—In a quiet residential district of Winnipeg, bank bandits injected great excitement as they held up a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, escaping with $1,000. The robbery occurred at the corner of Mountain Avenue and McGregor Street, in the north end of the city, the robbers gaining their freedom in a speeding automobile followed by five shots aimed at them by the manager of the bank.

Entering the establishment five minutes before closing time, the bandits forced the manager, E. L. Mundy, and teller, A. V. Monnin, into a back room.

One of the bandits thrust the cash into his pocket, then, with his companion, dashed for the door and into a waiting auto. As the holdup artists fled in the car, Manager Mundy grabbed his revolver from his desk and fired five shots at them, but none apparently struck their mark. A driver of a truck passing at the time, noticed the fleeing pair and gave chase, but the bandit car eluded the slow truck.

Winnipeg, Man.—Two men are held by Winnipeg police in connection with the hold-up. Arrested at Winnipeg Beach, 50 miles from here, the men gave their names as Stanley Scales and John Conlon. Both the men are about 20 years of age and were taken into custody along with another man and three girls at the Beach hotel.

Nautilus Proceeds Northward

Experts, However, Believe There Is Little Possibility Of Reaching Pole This Year

Bergen, Norway.—The Arctic submarine "Nautilus" left for Tromsø, Norway en route to Spitzbergen, but one member of the crew, and disheartened, remained behind.

Sir Hubert Wilkins' American cook was replaced by a Norwegian. The cook disconcerted told interviewers that he had been dropped because he was getting so fat it would be difficult for him to escape over the ice in case of emergency.

Polar experts here said there was small possibility of Wilkins reaching the pole this year.

AGREEMENT IS REACHED ON WHEAT POLICY

Ottawa, Ont.—Satisfactory arrangements have been made in connection with handling of the 1931 wheat crop. This was announced at the conclusion of the wheat conferences between Premier R. B. Bennett and western representatives.

Discussions on financial arrangements for the handling of the 1931 wheat crop were attended by representatives of several banks, including the Royal Bank of Commerce. The bank representatives sat in with the Prime Minister, Premier J. E. Brownlie, Alberta; Hon. Howard McConnell, Provincial Treasurer, and Minister of Municipal Affairs for Saskatchewan; John J. McFarland, general manager of the selling agency of the wheat pool; President A. J. McPhail, of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and other private representatives.

Following conclusion of the conversations, western government and wheat pool representatives left for the west.

Ottawa, Ont.—As a result of conferences between western wheat pools, the prairie governments and the Dominion, a revised wheat marketing policy has been agreed to. In addition to Federal guarantee of operations of the trading corporation which is to handle grain marketed through pool elevators, there will be a Federal guarantee of pooled wheat to the amount of 30 cents per bushel. In other words, the policy outlined in Premier Bennett's letter to the prairie governments will be carried through. But, in addition, the Dominion will guarantee any wheat that may be pooled to the extent of 30 cents initial payment per bushel. The position of the pool elevators this fall, therefore, will be this:

All pool farmers will be released from their pool contracts. They will be free to sell their wheat, free to sell it outright.

If they sell outright through the pool elevators, they will be paid the full market price. The transaction will be carried through by the new trading corporation. If this corporation shows a profit on the year's operation, such profit will be distributed among farmers. The trading corporation, while operating in an ordinary commercial way, will be a co-operative enterprise.

OPPOSITION TO IMMIGRATION OF DOUKHOBORS

Winnipeg, Man.—While the four western provinces and the Dominion Department of Immigration unanimously posted up "no-more-Doukhobor" immigration signs, Peter Verigin, leader of the religious sect in Canada, reiterated his intention of bringing between 20,000 and 30,000 Doukhobors from Europe to Canada in the near future and settling them on farm lands in western communities.

Migration movement plans would be carried forward, Verigin said, despite protests of the governments. The thousands of newcomers would be brought to Canada and, if the Dominion turned them away, they would be taken to "some other" country.

"Besides," added the chief of all Doukhobors in Canada, "the communities of Doukhobors now in this country also will be moved to another country."

Verigin said the immigrants would be able to meet financial regulations set up by the Canadian Department of Immigration. The majority would come from Russia and Germany. He made no comment on the mention, by Ottawa officials, that financial regulations the Doukhobors could not bring any amount if capital out of Russia, and so could not qualify for entry.

"The Doukhobor immigrants whom I propose to bring to Canada will be able to satisfy departmental regulations in respect to money possessions, land for settlement, etc.," Verigin said. "I have already purchased and paid for with cash, land for them to go on. They will be set up in homes and supplied with implements, stock and so forth, and they will not be a charge on the people of Canada."

"At the present time I have thousands of people clearing land for their reception in British Columbia, Alberta, and Saskatchewan, and in British Columbia, I have $500,000 worth of lumber ready with which to build homes for them."

Verigin said he would leave for Europe in a few days. "What I am doing is I feel should do for my people," he said, "but what the Canadian people decide to do rests with themselves."

While officials of western governments said they had no information regarding the Verigin scheme, they indicated protest would be made against the bringing of more Doukhobors to their respective provinces. Premier S. F. Tomin, of British Columbia, immediately advised W. A. Gordon, Dominion Minister of Immigration, asking that the proposed migration be stopped. "Verigin will never get them past Mr. Gordon," he commented.

Hon. George Hoadley, acting premier of Alberta, said his government did not desire immigration of any sort at the present time, and Hon. A. MacPherson, attorney-general of Saskatchewan, indicated his government was not prepared to admit the Doukhobor newcomers. Premier John Bracken said the Manitoba Government was opposed to all immigration to the province while the depression continues.

Unemployment Insurance

Preparing For Establishment Of Dominion-Wide System

Calgary, Alberta.—Collection of data is now under way in preparation for establishment of a Dominion-wide system of contributory unemployment insurance stated Dr. G. D. Stanley, M.P. for Calgary East, on his return to Calgary from Ottawa.

"The Federal Government aims to have the system in operation as soon as possible, but it will not be of much benefit in the alleviation of conditions due to the present economic depression," he said.

Dr. Stanley added that the Federal Government was gathering all information available, including the census data now being tabulated, and would base its system purely on ordinary principles adopted by insurance companies. Employees, employers and the government would contribute.

Thinks Soviet Plan Will Fail

Toronto, Ont.—The five-year plan of Soviet Russia is doomed to failure, according to Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, England, and former Conservative Premier of Ontario. In an interview here, he asserted his belief that the collapse of the plan was inevitable.

Douglas, capital of the Isle of Man, has 1,000 less people than in 1921.

INTERNATIONAL COMMUNIST DAY

The parades and demonstrations which were held last Saturday throughout the civilized world are sufficient proof that communist ideas are gaining ground outside of Russia. It has been said that the pen is mightier than the sword, and since the revolution in Russia, the Russian pen has never been idle in the distribution of propaganda intended to upset the civilizations of other countries. In countries where their representatives have been permitted to open offices in good faith, proof of their illegal activities and the misuse of the privileges granted them have never been lacking. They have followed a persistent policy for several years of undermining the civilization of other nations by means of ridiculously untruthful propaganda and paid agitators.

Workers in Russia have been educated for the past seven years in the belief that war with the capitalist nations was inevitable, and men, women and children have been trained for this "coming war." The whole idea of a war with capitalism seems to be a Russian idea, and the demonstrations last Saturday appear to be but a part of their well organized attempt to undermine civilization as we know it, and to force revolution on the rest of the world.

Other nations have been content to let Russia solve her own problem in her own way, and if it had been their intention to crush the Soviet, they would and could have done so several years ago; but their illegal activities in the London office, in China and elsewhere, have all been overlooked, at least for the time being.

But Russia simply refuses to mind her own business, she is persistent in her effort to upset other countries, and persistent efforts bear fruit. What the future holds remains to be seen.—Maclean Gazette.

ABOUT FREE ADVERTISING

There is no such thing as free publicity or advertising, for the very reason that if the people who benefit from the advertising do not pay for it, then the newspaper has to pay for it, says the Cardston News.

It costs money to run this paper, and if some people who think only of getting something for nothing would come in and look over our bills each month, they would get a new conception of the cost of running a newspaper.

When items are sent to this office as news items which are simply so much advertising, they will always find their place in the W.P.B. It is true we did run a free "Swap Column" this spring for the benefit of the farmers who, goodness knows, have been hard enough put to it to carry on, and we thought we might help them a little and offered that assistance. Whether they appreciated it or not does not matter so much, as the fact that it was used as an excuse by many others far more able to pay for it than we are, to seek "free publicity" for all sorts of things, and that too, when such people are not even subscribers to the paper. Some of these free publicity hounds have the nerve to say by their subscription account that the paper is not interesting to them, and yet they turn right around and want us to give them a big writeup about their plans, which in the final analysis is but another attempt to put it over on the public.

There is another class of free publicity which is less irritating, but which is none the less costly. It is the advertising asked for by celebration committees who are out to make money for some scheme or other. These projects are worthy enough in themselves, and we wish we could help them, but we would like to know if ever such committees go to the merchants in their stores and ask them for free groceries, or free shirts, or free shoes for the workers or those they would help. To ask a newspaper for free space is the same thing as asking a grocer for a 20-lb. sack of sugar, or the hardware man for a gift from his shelves. Why should the newspaper always pay when others are not asked to contribute?

This paper has the rule that no free publicity will be given to any project where a gate or admission fee is charged, or where money is expected to be made out of the project. Another rule is that no readers or advertising will be inserted in the news columns of this paper unless the advertiser has already purchased a display advertisement, and then such readers will cost ten cents a line in addition to the display advertising costs.

We do not wish to appear unco-operative, but we have to meet expenses, and we feel that a legitimate charge for advertising is the fairest way for the public to pay for the benefits derived from having a respectable newspaper in its community.—Ex.

CURLING RINKS A GODSEND

Sport has its place as a factor in keeping up the morale of a people.

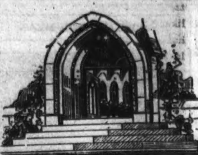

In our last issue J. H. Conyngham's article, "North of Peace River," told how one missionary on saurages games, and it is not surprising to find athletics playing a good part in the burnt-out areas of Saskatchewan.

"Last year the curling rinks were a godsend," writes the Rev. W. A. Wilkinson from the dried-out region of southern Saskatchewan. Because of drought, the people are under severe strain and he looks to sport as a way out. Mr. Wilkinson knows what games meant to men in the trenches and so he says: "These people have cut their reading material to nothing in most cases; they have no money. . . . We must by some means get these people together. . . . We must guard against them living alone with their thoughts. . . . This year our churches must be social centres. . . . Sport must be maintained everywhere. . . . Last year the curling rinks were a godsend. . . . Our task is clear. First, the churches must be kept open, not only as preaching places, but as social centres. . . . We are having picnics and social gatherings now. The need of these will increase. Sixty per cent of the faces indicate care and anxiety. They have fought through two years of drought, some through three. They hoped this year for alleviation. It has not come."

Reason enough for sport and for everything that will help divert people's attention from the tragic aspects of the immediate situation.—The New Outlook.

Lieutenant W. J. Evans, who has been attending military school in Calgary for the past month, returned home Monday.—Rediff Revue.

Section 57 of the Nova Scotia Motor Vehicle Act provides that "It is unlawful for any person at any time to use a horn otherwise than as a reasonable warning, or to make any unnecessary sound by means of a horn or other warning device. Penalties provided are $25 for first offence, $50 for second offence, and $100 for the third, and police have been instructed to enforce the act strictly. It has been pointed out that by slowing down at intersections to a rate of speed not exceeding 15 miles an hour, the use of horns will not be required except in cases of emergency.

A CHRISTIAN SOLUTION TO THE PRESENT DEPRESSION

In a statement to the Canadian press, which we produce in full in this issue, Mr. A. J. Nesbitt, the senior partner in the well known financial house of A. Nesbitt Thomson and Company, urges more dependence on the Divine will in the present world depression. He maintains in all sincerity that "the moment this nation turns to God there will be a heaven-sent revival sweep this land, and the fear and distrust and hate now prevalent will give place to faith and hope and love; industry shall improve and prosperity and peace shall follow."

Such a statement coming from one of the keenest business minds of the country cannot help but arrest the attention of all men however interested they may be in their own business affairs; for to advance in very positive terms, as Mr. Nesbitt has done, the Christian doctrine of man's redemption through faith as the real solution for our present economic ills requires courage of high order, and we, like countless thousands of others, respect and admire him for the brave stand he has taken, and this notwithstanding the fact that the appeal will find its echo in the heart of every right thinking man and woman.

Let us forget, it would be well to remind ourselves that Christianity is the basis of our moral code; that through its teachings the old Adamic code of "an-eye-for-an-eye" was changed to that of the "brotherhood of man," the fundamental principle on which the B-17 Empire has been built. All her institutions and her very constitution are based upon it. This Christ-an-derived strength has permeated every part of the empire; it has created a sense of security in the minds of people steeped for ages in the lowest depths of slavery and superstition, and given them confidence in a new ideal of national life. It has made white men gild themselves for the best part of their lives to the uttermost parts of the earth, so that the British flag might be respected through their sense of Christian duty. And the self-governing dominions are drawn by this same Christian magnet closer to the motherland, because in accepting the responsibility of autonomy each adopted the same principles which underlie the British constitution—the principles of true liberty and real justice in accordance with the teachings of Christ Himself.

Canada's manhood, in common with the rest of the world, is being tested. There is a strain everywhere between self-interest and the interest of the community; and there is only one standard by which the strain can be lessened, and relieved—the standard of Christian brotherhood, as laid down in Mr. Nesbitt's timely and opportune appeal. Nothing less will suffice. Surely if righteousness is exalted in a nation, it also exalts the individual.—Ex.

THE PASS SIXTEEN YEARS AGO

(The Blairmore Enterprise, 1915)

April 16.—The new war-stamp letters became effective this week. All cheques, bills of exchange and receipts passed through the books for payment must bear a two-cent stamp, either an ordinary postage stamp, or the special war stamp.

According to a notice published this week, the name of the Alberta Coal & Coke Co. Ltd. (non personal liability) has been changed to the Lamb-lick-Alberta Coal & Oil Co. Ltd. (non personal liability).

Full military honors were accorded the late Bombardier Peter Carruthers, of the 40th Battery, C.E.F., at Lethbridge on Saturday last, when the funeral service was held, prior to the remains being sent to his home in Ottawa.

James, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson, underwent an operation in the Bellevue hospital this week.

Messrs. Ed. Donkin, D. Fleming, J. J. Murray, H. Beers, H. Co-pitts and R. W. Thompson, attended the funeral of P. Carruthers at Lethbridge.

Sergt. Gresham came up from Medicine Hat last week to look after his son Rennie, who sustained injury to his left hand by discharging a gun.

The following was clipped from an exchange this week: "There was an old man and he had a wooden leg; he had no money and he wouldn't beg. He had a piece of pipe and a twelve-inch board—says he to himself, 'I'll make me a Ford. A gallon of gas and a quart of oil; a piece of barbed wire to make a coil; four big spools and an old milk can he hammered together and the darn thing ran.'"

J. B. Bartlett, of Fort George, is visiting here with his brother, the editor of this paper.

April 30.—The Blairmore Board of School Trustees, at a meeting held this week, decided to cut salaries, which in future will range from $1100 down to $650 per annum.

The Prince of Wales national relief fund has reached $25,000,000.

ARE WILD FOWL TO BE SAVED?

Governmental authorities and fish and game associations, officials throughout Canada and the United States are so seriously concerned by the threatened extinction of the wild duck and wild goose that vigorous and effective conservation measures may be anticipated. Alberta has taken a very important lead in this respect by shortening the duck season by one month, and by reducing the day and season bag limits. As this action was taken, following a conference at Edmonton at which were present Col. Cunningham, game commissioner of Manitoba, and A. E. Etter, game commissioner of Saskatchewan, it may be assumed that the other prairie provinces will follow Alberta's example.

This, however, will not be sufficient. The most important remedy lies in action that can be taken in the United States for the reason that 90 per cent of the wild ducks that are shot in the two countries are killed across the line as against 10 per cent in Canada. Yet, these ducks are reared in Canada. It is, therefore, evident that if adequate conservation is to be secured the main action must come from the United States.

Alberta, one of the great breeding provinces, has made a generous and useful concession. With the other prairie provinces following suit, the responsibility will lie with the United States as to whether practical conservation will be organized and the wild duck, and with it the wild goose, be preserved.

The situation in Western Canada has been thoroughly examined by Dr. W. D. Bell, of the Bureau of Biological Survey, Washington, co-operating with Mr. J. Munro, chief federal migratory bird officer for the western provinces, and with Mr. Frank Farley, of Camrose, president of the Alberta Fish and Game Association. They have found that the duck loss in western Canada, including the more northern regions, approximates the appalling total of 90 per cent of the supply of a few years ago. Dr. Bell has gone so far as to declare that the fate of the carrier pigeon will be the fate of the wild ducks unless conservation measures are taken.

Ottawa is keenly alert to the need for action, but Ottawa cannot act effectively without the co-operation of Washington. The Canadian government may be sure of the undivided support of the Fish and Game associations in every province in the Dominion in any proposals it may urge looking to the preservation of the wild waterfowl.—Calgary Herald, July 30.

AMATEUR HOCKEY TRAVELLERS ARE TO BE CHECKED

REGINA, Sask.—Hinting that even the expense of a Dominion-wide meeting will not be spared by the Canadian Amateur Hockey association if such be necessary to halt the practice of puck propellers changing their residence every winter, President Jack Hamilton issued another statement regarding the existing situation over the week end.

Mr. Hamilton's general statement follows out what he has already decreed—that no player will be given a transfer until his case is investigated fully, and it is held extremely likely that a meeting will have to be held before the situation is cleared up once and for all.

In an additional statement, addressed to all amateur hockey clubs in Canada, Mr. Hamilton emphatically states that, in order to get any consideration from the parent body in the matter of transfers, the clubs must register the players affected by their branch secretary on or before August 15 and, in turn, these must be in his hands before August the 31st.

Here is the president's statement to the clubs:

"To all amateur hockey clubs in Canada:

"Amateur hockey clubs all over Canada are asked to submit to their respective branch secretaries a list containing the names of all players for whom they expect to obtain either club or branch transfers in order that these players might play hockey with their clubs next season. These lists will also show the name and location of the club with which each player last played.

"The individual clubs are asked to have these lists in the hands of their branch secretaries on or before August 15 next if any consideration is to be given their cases.

ALBERTA CLAY DISCOVERED - IS AID TO HEALTH

Semi-colloidal clay deposits, unique among mineral finds, have been discovered in hidden recesses of the Rocky Mountains near Jasper National park. New York and German analysts declare samples of this medicinal deposit contain unusual characteristics. Apparently no other similar clays exist in the world.

A prominent Canadian doctor made the discovery accidentally. Camped in the Rockies with some friends, the doctor found himself without his medicine kit when one of them was stricken with lumbago. A party of Indians informed him of this wonderful clay used by them for all ailments.

A plaster of the ray clay was applied to the sick friend's back with effective results. The doctor stalked the property and analysts have revealed the clay had almost uncanny curative properties and a rejuvenating effect on the human skin bordering on magical, it was stated.

Edmonton is the centre of this new industry, the product of which is carried from the Rocky Mountains' deposits to laboratories there.

NEW INDUSTRIAL RICE PLANT FOR VANCOUVER

Announcement was made recently by the Canadian National Railways that they have completed negotiations with the Canada Rice Mills Limited for a site on the new industrial area recently opened on Lulu Island, British Columbia. Work will be commenced early in August on the erection of a new plant. The site for the new mill is located on the main channel of the Fraser River just east of Woodward's Landing.

It is the intention of the company to erect a modern rice milling plant on the Lulu Island property, which they hope will enable them to largely increase their output, thereby reducing operating costs. At the same time the erection of the new plant will considerably assist the present unemployment problem.

SEEK TO EVOLVE GAMIER GAME FISH

Having in view the production of improved types of certain sport fish, the Fish Culture Division of the Dominion Department of Fisheries is carrying on interesting experiments in cross-breeding and already some promising results have been obtained in the development of hybrid brown trout.

Hybrids developed by crossing brown trout and Atlantic salmon have shown greater growth than brown trout of like age, and it is expected that the crosses will show somewhat increased gameness and that perhaps other improvements in type may also be manifested.

The work of the Fish Culture Division is largely devoted to the maintenance of the commercial stocks of such fish as salmon, whitefish, and pickerel, but the angling resources of the Dominion are so important, from the tourist and recreational standpoints, that the division also gives considerable attention each year to sport fish propagation and the stocking of angling waters. It is as part of this phase of its work that the experiments in connection with hybrid trout has been undertaken.

The major experiments in cross-breeding in the past few years have been going on at the department's fish hatchery near Saint John, N.B., though some experimentation has been undertaken at other points.

At present the experiment at Saint John in hybrid brown trout development is being continued so as to create a fish with seven-eighths brown trout strain and one-eighth Atlantic salmon strain, and a further experiment is being made with crosses of Landlocked salmon (Salmo salar sebago) and Atlantic salmon (Salmo salar). The crossing of brown trout and salmon was begun in the autumn of 1925, but the cross-breeding of Landlocked and Atlantic salmon did not begin until last year. When the experiments have been completed, and it is possible to judge of their success with reasonable certainty, the hybrids will be introduced into various waters if it seems that they would be useful additions to the country's types of fish.

In November, 1925, a cross was made between a female brown trout and a male Atlantic salmon. The fertilized eggs were placed in the Saint John hatchery and in April, 1926, a thousand fry were hatched. When the fry had reached the fingerling stage they were put in a hatchery pond and there they spawned in the autumn of 1929. Further crosses were then made between hybrid females and pedigreed brown trout males and between pedigreed females and hybrid males, and fry were hatched in April, 1930. This year, as has been said, the crossing is being carried a step farther.

So far as the hybrids already produced are concerned, the superintendent of the hatchery has reported that in looks they resemble brown trout, but in habits they are more like Atlantic salmon. At four and a half years old they were considerably larger than brown trout of like age.

Landlocked salmon occur in several waters in the southern part of New Brunswick, but they are not regarded so highly by sportsmen as other varieties of salmon. They are not very attractive in the quality of their flesh and they are less gamy than some other sport fish. It was such considerations as these which led the fish culturists to undertake the crossing of Landlocked and Atlantic salmon in the hope that by cross-breeding it might be possible to evolve an improved type.

The experiment was begun at Saint John last November, when Landlocked females were crossed with male Atlantic salmon and Atlantic females with Landlocked males. The fry hatched out during the spring, but it is too early as yet, of course, for an opinion to be formed as to what measure of success the experiment will have.

HOW THE ASS GOT HIS REPUTATION

At the beginning of things, when the world was young, the donkey was esteemed by all the tribes of men as the wisest of animals.

The good sheik El-Cent-rifu-gal owned a great herd of these sagacious beasts, which was the pride and joy of his life.

Other sheiks came from all around to listen and marvel at the wisdom of the herd.

At such a time came even the prophet, himself most learned and wise of all the sons of the East. With much glowing pride El-Cent-rifu-gal led him out to the herd and said: "Behold, O Prophet, the wise and talented asses. Converse with them, test them, and see if they are not verily wiser than forty trees, full of ovals."

Then the prophet addressed the asses. "Let us test your wisdom," said he, "answer me this question: What should an ass require for a three day's journey?" And they counselled among themselves and then made reply: "For a three days' journey, O Prophet, any ass should require six bundles of hay and three bags of dates."

"Very good," quoth the prophet, "that soundeth like a fair and proper price." Whereupon El-Cent-rifu-gal broke into loud chuckles and said: "Did I not tell you they are passing wise?"

The prophet answered, "Wait," and he again addressed the asses. "I have to make a three day's journey, but I will not give you six bundles of hay and three bags of dates for making it. Let him who will go for less stand forth."

And behold they all stood forth and began to talk at once. One would go for six bundles of hay and one bag of dates, until one especially long-eared ass agreed to go for one bundle of hay.

Then spoke the prophet: "Fool,"

It was there that Simon found her, coming in from the garden at a frantic summons from the maid, who had heard Gay's cry. The old man perceived the yellow envelope on the floor, and thought: "God help us! she has had bad news."

Then he saw that it was unopened, and hastily tore it with queerly trembling hands. What he read, he handed to Nick, and thereby gained him to drop on his knees beside Gay's pallid form, crying, as he tenderly shaved her hands: "Dearly, it's good news! He's safe! Wake up, Gay—wake up and let Uncle Sim tell you."

"Nick's safe! Can't you hear, dearie? He's safe. Can't you hear Uncle Sim at all?"

It was the doctor who pushed Simon aside. "How he got there the old man didn't know," he said, his hand on Gay's pulse. "She's coming round, but we must get her to bed. This means mischief. I fear. It's lucky she was there when she fainted. If she'd had a fall—still, it's bad enough as it is; but when she knows the truth about that message it will give her a new lease of life, add seven-month babies sometimes turn out as husky as any others. I'll leave her here while I telephone the nurse, though she may not arrive in time. She's just off a case in Brattleboro."

He bent over the patient anxiously. Her eyes fluttered open—then closed. "Gay," he said gently, "wake up. Your husband's safe. He'll be here within a week, Gay."

She was looking at him now, but with an expression that brought a chill to the doctor's heart. They were Gay's eyes, yet—

"He's gone," she whispered. "He's never coming home—never, never again."

"No—no!" cried Simon brokenly. "That isn't true, dearie!"

"Flush!" warned the doctor. He knelt down, and softly stroked her hand. "Gay," he said gently, "listen to me. Nick's safe. He'll be here in a day or two. You misunderstand. I—"

She struggled wildly up. "Don't lie to me! Don't—don't! Didn't I see the message? It was addressed . . . Oh, why do you try to deceive me? He's gone—drowned—my Nick! There are sharks in those waters. I know. Haven't I thought of it nights when I couldn't sleep? Haven't I seen him—his hair all wet . . ."

She sank back, blessedly unconscious again.

Six hours later her little girl was born.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Strangely, the only member of the party who felt any regret at leaving their island refuge, was Angela. In the hours when Nick was absent from camp, building his signal fire, she had made elaborate plans for his conquest. Always optimistic regarding the power of her own charms, she could arrange it by suggesting to Amy Meyer that, because of her dependent family, it was Nick's duty to stay in the safest place. She might give Amy a hint about the coming baby, telling her that it was Gay's wish for Nick to know, and thereby gain an ally when it came to deciding who should leave, and who should stay behind.

She might even manage so that Colonel Nowell, whose repeated tales of Painter's Neck made her shudder, should be the one to go. He was no longer young, and had no family to care whether he came back or not. With the complacency of a woman who always managed, by fair means or foul, to get her own way, Angela laid her plans. When only a few hours later, she beheld the light of the approaching vessel, her emotions were a strange mingling of relief and anger; but when she realized who was the visitor, she was seized with a rage that drove the color from her face, and it was with difficulty that she controlled herself sufficiently to surrender to the embrace her husband offered her.

Nick had hardly spoken to her since they embarked. He had spent much time tramping the deck with Halliday, or reading and re-reading the letter that Halliday had brought. Perhaps had Angela not that letter, even her warped spirit would have understood why Nick had been so unyielding to her charms. Gay had said that the writing of it "eased" her heart. Nick's of a burden that had been growing unbearable. He drank of it eagerly, and often, as one who has suffered thirst. Gay understood—she always would understand.

So while Nick exulted, Angela was feeling flustered and irritated. They were, she knew, headed straight for Florida, where they would drop Nick at Miami. He would go home by rail, while the rest of them were to proceed leisurely to Boston and deliver the yacht to its owner, who had gone North.

In chagrin at her frustrated plans, Angela forgot that she abominated camping, and felt vaguely aggrieved. Perhaps her husband had found them so soon. It gave her a personal grudge against him, which ripened as he continued to treat her with what she chose to call an unnatural courtesy and consideration.

"He has an axe of some sort to grind," she mused, as she looked moodily out to sea. "He hasn't smiled me once, or said anything sarcastic. Nor has he talked about that wretched child he's so wrapped up in. Though I heard him telling Nick some wonderful thing she'd said. He acts as foolish as a young father; and I believe he encourages her to call him Daddy! Well, if she tries that stunt with me, I'll put her in her proper place! And if he adopts her legally . . ."

Thoughts such as these were fuel to Angela's smoldering anger at the fate which seemed to have snatched Nick from her hands. And that fate was Halliday. She longed to punish him. She would punish him if she had the chance. And she would punish Nick Hastings, too, for his lofty indifference. If she could punish them both—at one stroke. . . . Her eyes brightened mischievously. Why couldn't it be the easiest thing in the world if the opportunity arose. . . .

It arose next day. It was a warm and balmy afternoon. Amy Meyer was playing chess with her little girl, and Angela had gone to the other side of the boat, where she was gazing into the water, idly wondering if its shade of blue would be becoming for a new evening gown. After a few moments the Colonel joined her. Deep in her plans for a new gown, Angela smiled absently, and thus encouraged her to begin on one of her reminiscences.

"This reminds me of the last cruise I ever took," he said softly. "Started from Bar Harbor . . ."

Angela stirred uneasily, wishing that Colonel Nowell had never heard of the state of Maine. Probably his cruise would end at Painter's Neck. He was forever going to Painter's Neck—by steam, by automobile, or by water. It was with relief that she saw Nick and her husband coming toward them. She interrupted the Colonel's narrative to greet them with unusual graciousness; but Colonel Nowell once started, was not to be side-tracked.

"Just telling your wife about the first cruise I ever took," he resumed tirelessly. "You familiar with Maine, Halliday? Great state. Finest coast in the world. Ever heard of a place called Painter's Neck?"

It seemed to Nick that for a perceptible moment Halliday hesitated, then, moving nearer to Angela, he said quietly: "Yes. I know the place."

"Really?" The Colonel appeared a bit surprised. "Went there before your marriage, I suppose."

Angela cast a frightened glance at her husband; but he said calmly: "No. We had a house there one summer. This is a wonderful day to be on the water, isn't it? But after all, I think I prefer the mountains. Ever been to the White Mountains, Colonel?"

"Why—er—yes," came feebly from Colonel Nowell. For once he seemed to grope for words. His eyes sought Nick's inquiry, but did not meet them because Nick was intent on Angela's hands, clutching the rail so rigidly that the veins stood out in harsh, unlovely lines. Then Halliday moved closer, wiping one of his hands on her, protectively.

"Let's sit down," he suggested, and seating his wife courteously, took the chair beside her.

The Colonel tried once more to meet Nick's gaze, and failing, cast a return of his old, jaunty manner. "Well, guess I'll go 'round the other side and get a nap. This air makes me sleepy. See you later, folks."

The Woman Motorist

Practice Making Her As Perfect Driver As A Man

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. The old gibes against the woman motorist are dying before the number of women drivers is increasing at so astonishing a rate. There is not much more sense in saying that women are congenitally incapable of driving a motor car than in arguing that men are debared by their sex from learning to knit or to sew if they wish to do so. It is a matter of practice making perfect in both cases. And in the case of the vast majority of women motorists practice is making as nearly perfect as the average male driver at any rate.

Putnam's

Instructor For Lindbergh

Gatty Taught Navigation To Famous Flyer and His Wife

Harold Gatty, navigator of the "Winnie Mae" has "shot the sun" since he was 17 years of age. At that time he was employed as navigator on a merchant marine vessel, after having studied for four years at the Royal Australian Naval College.

Gatty remained in the merchant marine service until 1927 when he came to the United States. He became associated with Lieut.-Commander Philip Van H. Weems, U.S.N., recognized as one of the world's greatest authorities on navigation, and did research work under his direction. Later, when Lieutenant-Commander Weems went to Annapolis to teach graduate students, Gatty established a training school near the Grand Central Airport where he taught a modification of Lieutenant-Commander Weems' system of celestial navigation.

While there he had many famous pupils, perhaps the most conspicuous of whom are Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh.

Gatty's system of navigation is said to be so practical and precise that he can fix the location of his ship in less than a minute after he has observed the sun or a familiar star. To accommodate these observations, a special opening was made in the cabin of the "Winnie Mae."

Keeping the Sea Clean

British Considering Bill To Prevent Oil Discharge From Ships

The House of Commons gave first reading to a bill, introduced by Sir Cooper Dawson, Cons., Brighton, designed to keep the seas clean. The bill would require oil-carrying ships to free their oil discharge from oil. Sir Cooper estimated that 2,000,000 tons of crude oil were discharged from oil ships into the sea every day. This oil drifted to coasts, damaging fisheries and despoiling sea resorts.

If Britannia cannot rule the waves, that's no reason why we shouldn't keep them clean," he said, as members cheered the bill on its way.

Canada Secures Space

Government Will Exhibit Next Year At British Industries Fair

It is announced by the Department of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa, that reservation of a Canadian section at the Birmingham section of the British Industries Fair next year has been made by the Canadian Exhibition Commission. The same space as was held this year has been secured and is located in the heart of the show. Considerable attention has been attracted in past years to the Canadian Government exhibit, which is the only one of its kind from the overseas Dominions and Colonies.

Disseminating Knowledge

Free Lectures On Health Subjects Given By Canadian Social Hygiene Council

The Canadian Social Hygiene Council's Free Radio College of Health has just concluded its third annual term. It is the only college of the ether—unique also because it has no bursar, bachelors or degrees, degrees or examinations and only one subject—health.

This term, thousands of Canadians on farms, and in villages, towns and cities from coast to coast have heard the voice of lecturers telling them how to prevent diphtheria, typhoid fever, how to beware the early signs of cancer and how to seek health through nature's greatest medicine—sunlight.

Thirty lectures in all have been given and the entire course has been as free as the ether that carried its messages. Sixteen radio stations and scores of daily and weekly newspapers have given free time and free space to the lectures and these were provided free by the Canadian Social Hygiene Council. The result has been a "college" with an unprecedented low running-cost, its only endowment, good-will, its lecture-halls, homes of the Canadian public. The response of this vast, invisible class is attested by letters from every corner of Canada. Lectures were delivered in French and English.

The importance of pure milk, the saving of child life through proper care and feedings, mental hygiene, prevention and cure of tuberculosis, the need for regular physical examinations, these and other subjects close to the life of the average Canadian were dealt with.

Estimate Was Close

Gatty's Plans For World Flight Apparently Carried Out

Four months ago a blue-eyed young chap wandered into a Los Angeles newspaper office. It was Harold Gatty.

"Wiley Post and I," he explained, "You know, the winner of last year's spot prize race to Chicago, are going to fly around the world in 10 days, maybe seven. Would that make a story?"

It would. It did. Not only did Post and Gatty go ahead methodically with their preparations, they adhered to the plans with surprising rigor.

Gatty, for instance, said plans showed 107 hours of flying time would be required. The flight took them just 106h. 8m. They figured the ship would make 150 miles an hour. It did on an average.

Could Not Check the Summer Complaint

A Few Doses Did It

Mrs. B. Coulter, 918-11th Ave. E., Calgary, Alta., writes: "Last summer my youngest son was very bad with summer complaint, and everything he ate he would vomit, and he got so thin I became very much worried. I could not get the discharges checked, so I went to the druggist and he gave me a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Kidney & Bladder Pills. I told him it would stop the trouble if anything would. After I had given the boy the first few doses I noticed the discharges were being checked, and he was not long before he was well again."

Excess of the quality built into the new Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. In addition to smoother operation, they are gasoline, give more speed and power in first and second speeds, decrease noise and increase the durability and efficiency of the transmission gears.

From the engine to the road, the entire drive of the new Ford on all forward speeds is wholly on anti-friction ball and roller bearings. Come in and let us explain the many other structural and mechanical features that make the new Ford a value far above the price you pay.

A much excited individual rushed into the county tax office and complained that he had been wrongly charged two dollars for keeping a goat. The clerk, however, stoutly maintained that the charge was correct, calmly presenting a copy of the tax regulation and pointing out the following clause: "For all property bounding and abutting on the highway, 50 cents per foot."

Ward comes from the North Fork district that Bob (or Coal) Creek, has become so dried up that water has ceased to flow, and that thousands of trout are being destroyed by nagpies and crows. Efforts were made last week to recover some of the marooned fish and quite a number were taken out and placed in other waters. Authorities have been notified and it is hoped some reasonable action will be taken.

Set in the colorful background of Havana, "Her Man" is a story that deals with men and women who live for today and let tomorrow take care of itself. Its theme is the regeneration of a girl born "on the wrong side of the island," a girl who finds her way to the right side through the love of a man she cannot understand. It is a story brimful of drama and action, interspersed with rough-and-ready humor. See it at Cole's theatre this week end.

At a special meeting of the Blaimore Board of School Trustees yesterday afternoon, the unanimous choice of Mr. Sidney White as teacher of Grade XII was made. Mr. White had his initial experience as teacher at Coleman, then going to other points in this province, from all of which he comes highly recommended. Upwards of twenty-five applications were made for the position, some of which applicants were recommended by former members of the Blaimore teaching staff.

Cohen and Bruce were arrested at Vancouver.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our darling boy, Edward William Elliott, who died in Blaimore, August 14th, 1928.

"Tonight the stars are gleaming
On a lonely silent grave,
Where sleeps in dreamless slumber
One we loved, but could not save."

Do not ask us if we miss him—
There is such a vacant place.
Can we ever forget that footprint
And that dear familiar face.

The flowers we place upon his grave
May wither and decay;
But the memory of the one we loved
Will never fade away.
Lovingly remembered by Daddy,
Mamma and Jean, Kimberley, B.C.
